Forecast for Friday 10 Jun 2022

Weather: Long clear spells developing through the early hours giving way to a sunny start to the morning, especially for the Aberdeenshire Hills. Cloud will bubble up with showers developing towards midday, the showers becoming occasionally heavy times, and perhaps thundery, across the Ochils and Perthshire Hills through the afternoon, with fewer showers further north. Becoming mainly dry through the evening.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: Close to 100% at first but 75% from mid-morning, rising to 90% across the Aberdeenshire and Angus Hills.

Low Cloud and visibility: Occasional cloud above 450m developing by mid-morning then rising to around 600-750m by afternoon, and just small amounts below the summits across the Aberdeenshire and Angus Hills. Away from cloud visibility very good falling to several kilometres in heavier showers.

Met Office Aberdeen Meteorologist's View
Gusts around 55mph over ridges and summits. Significant chill effect on higher summits despite some strong sunshine.

Forecast for Saturday 11 Jun 2022
Weather: Mainly dry with clear or sunny spells across the Aberdeenshire hills but elsewhere cloudier through the morning with outbreaks of mainly light rain. Cloud will break up for the afternoon to leave sunny spells and the odd heavy shower, these mainly across the Ochils and Perthshire Hills.

Maximum wind: Southwesterly 30-40mph, gusts around 60mph over ridges and summits, easing in the evening.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: Around 40% across the south and west of the area through much of the morning improving to around 75% for the afternoon, but nearer 90% in north.

Low Cloud and visibility: Periods of cloud above about 600-750m across the south and west through much of the morning, becoming more occasional in the afternoon, but only small amounts of cloud below the summits expected in the north. Away from cloud visibility good or very good falling to several kilometres in rain and briefly in showers.

Temperature: Glens: Around plus 9 Celsius rising to plus 18 Celsius by day.
At 800m: Around plus 7 Celsius.
Freezing level: Above summits.
